INTRODUCTION

1986 saw a new Parks Act passed in Saskatchewan which created five new provincial parks, formally established a park classification system and consolidated park legislation. The act formalizes a new park classification system which will serve as the basis of managing, preserving and designating Saskatchewan parks in the future. The system categorizes provincial parks under the classifications: Historic, Natural Environment, Recreation or Wilderness. The five new parks include one natural environment park (Makwa Lake), three recreation parks (Blackstrap, Candle Lake, Crooked Lake), and Saskatchewan's first wilderness park (Clearwater River). Nine historic parks which were previously protected areas are reclassified as Provincial Historic Parks. The Act also provides authority for the Minister to establish Park Land Reserves, setting aside and protecting areas for future park status.

Because of anticipated traffic related to Expo '86, sites situated along both the Trans Canada and Yellowhead Highway Routes opened earlier and extended closing dates. In addition, the 'Park Passport' program was continued whereby park visitors were provided with passport booklets which were stamped at each park visited for eligibility for prizes, included a special prize category for those visitors to the Sask Expo '86 pavilion who had visited at least one Saskatchewan provincial park.

Other park promotions undertaken during the 1986 summer season included the following:

- 'Parks Week' officially declared July 13-20, was promoted utilizing the theme "Environmental Awareness" with special aquatic, recreation and interpretive programs. Parks Week was initiated in Saskatchewan in 1981, but was formally designated by the Minister in 1985 to be held the third week in July every year.

- The "Wild and Wonderful" promotion of the Moose Jaw Wild Animal Park over the past two years has succeeded in bringing visitors into the park in record numbers. The 1986 promotional campaign consisted of radio advertisements in major markets, billboards on the Trans Canada Highway, co-operative advertising in North Dakota and Montana and a full-colour brochure.

- 'Canada Day' celebrations July 1st included special programs and events at most of the provincial parks. The Canada Day theme in 1986 was "Transportation and Communication".

Saskatchewan continued to promote private sector investment for development and/or operation of park facilities and services. The number of summer season commercial leases ranged from fast food concessions and boat rentals to golf courses, a leisure pool complex (Pike Lake Provincial Park) and waterslide park (Moose Mountain Provincial Park).

This report documents information collected in the field by Operations staff in a format approved by Park Services and Parks Branches.

There are problems inherent to data regarding self-registration campgrounds. In a self-registration campground the onus is on the camper to register his party from a self-serve permit station. Sporadic checks are made by park staff and campers who have not registered are asked to do so. Some campers are inevitably missed in the checks and others plainly ignore the request to register. The persistence of the park staff in obtaining compliance from campers to register has a great deal to do with the accuracy of statistics from these campgrounds. Program evaluation studies generally indicate a high level of compliance.

Readers should also exercise caution when interpreting the vehicle entry statistics. Saskatchewan's data is based on monthly field reports of traffic counter readings, or estimates of vehicle entries. The counts are adjusted for two-way traffic only. There are no adjustments for non-recreational traffic (cottagers, staff, delivery, R.C.M.P., etc.); through traffic or re-entering traffic.

* Estimate

Source: Annual camping permit analysis. For those parks indicating estimate statistics, permit-days were derived for the period self-registration revenue was accrued. The percent variance from 1985 was calculated and applied to 1985 permit and camper-day statistics to determine the above estimates for 1986.
